

Your banker leaves at closing. We don't.

For most owners the business isn't part of the balance sheet — it is the balance sheet.

Decades of work, most of the family's wealth and much of your identity sit in a single illiquid asset you can convert to cash exactly once.

HOW WE WORK

BEFORE

Valuation and value-gap analysis, readiness, and the tax and estate work that only counts years out.

DURING

One seat accountable to your family, alongside your banker, M&A attorney and CPA.

AFTER

A plan for proceeds that now have to last permanently — and the Family CFO relationship that follows.

WHO THIS IS FOR

- Owners expecting to sell or transition within one to ten years
- Owners who have had an approach and don't know what the business is worth
- Families where the business is most of the net worth, with no plan if something happens first
- Owners planning an internal transition to family, management or an ESOP

Nearly everything that determines what you keep is decided in the years before a buyer is in the room.

WHAT'S INCLUDED

- Business valuation and value-gap assessment
- Entity and ownership structuring ahead of a deal
- Pre-sale trust and estate planning, while it still qualifies
- Key-employee retention and buy-sell review
- Deal structures modelled for what you actually net

The credential behind it. As a Certified Exit Planning Advisor (CEPA) professional, Pierre Movsessian and our team are specially trained to help business owners build, protect, and ultimately realize the value of their business — aligning both personal and professional goals to support a successful transition and long-term financial independence.

ADVICE FOR LIFE — THE SAME FOUR STEPS, WHICHEVER DOOR YOU CAME THROUGH

01 Discovery Before we crunch numbers we talk about what matters most to you — family, community, pastimes. Together we figure out where you are now.	02 Planning We assess where you stand against your goals and priorities, weigh the financial implications of each, and build the framework of a plan.	03 Solutions We recommend specific strategies aligned to each goal, across every area of your financial life, and implement the plan.	04 Monitoring Life happens. Tracking keeps the plan on target, so we can anticipate change and adjust as circumstances do.

QUESTIONS WE ARE ASKED

What is a CEPA?

Certified Exit Planning Advisor — a credential from the Exit Planning Institute focused on preparing a business and its owner for a transition, covering value growth, readiness, and the personal and financial planning around a sale.

Is your valuation an appraisal?

No. Our business valuation and exit planning work is educational and planning in nature. It is not an appraisal, a fairness opinion, or a solicitation to buy or sell a business.

How early should we start?

Most meaningful tax and estate planning has to be in place well before a letter of intent. Three to five years gives real room; one year still helps; after a signed LOI the options narrow sharply.

What if I'm not sure I want to sell?

That is the usual starting point. Understanding what the business is worth, and what would have to be true to sell it well, is useful whether or not you ever do.
